Don't miss...

Information boards in the reception area – check the 'What's on' and 'What's about' boards for up to date information about what to see and do today.

The farmhouse tower – fantastic panoramic views across the entire reserve and the Solway estuary.

The new Sir Peter Scott observatory – get closer to wintering wild whooper swans than anywhere in the country from the comfort of this heated observatory. Large picture windows immerse you in a unique wildlife watching experience. Panoramic views from the tower with multi-access lift.

Saltcot loaning and Merse observatory – a screened path lined with hides overlooking the fields and ponds, leading to the Merse observatory and tower with its views over the Solway tides.

The avenue and tower – another screened avenue leading to a three-storey tower looking out over the flood ground and goose grazing fields.

The Peter Scott centenary walk – explore the wet woodland habitat with its bird hides and wild bird feeding area.

Wildflower meadow and river walks – open in summer, these paths meander round the meadow and along the banks of the Lochar Water with butterflies flitting and dragonflies hawking and maybe even a glimpse of an elusive otter.

Live CCTV in the cafe – watch the latest action on the big screen. Osprey and barn owl nests in the summer and swans and geese in the winter.

Triops – one of the oldest species on earth, this crustacean is a 220 million year old living fossil. The only place in the UK that you can see this amazing creature is in the Caerlaverock aquarium.

Take care and help us protect the wildlife here

- Please stay on the marked paths and be careful near water.
- Enjoy your close encounters with wildlife here but remember all animals can carry diseases. Washing your hands is a sensible way to protect yourself, especially before eating.
- Birds have ears too – you'll see more around the reserve and in the hides if you are quiet and approach slowly.
- Please don't pick leaves, flowers and berries - they are important for our wildlife, and some may even be harmful to you.
